British Museum

Free admission

The British Museum holds, in trust for the nation and the world, a collection of art and antiquities from ancient and living cultures. Housed in one of Britain's architectural landmarks, the collection is one of the finest in existence, spanning two million years of history.

Our tip

As there is so much to see, it is well worth taking the 90 minute guided tour.

www.britishmuseum.org

Coca-Cola London Eye

Since opening in March 2000, Coca-Cola London Eye has become an iconic landmark and a symbol of London. Situated on the South Bank of the River Thames, with imposing views over London, it is Europe's largest ferris wheel. The design was used as a metaphor for the end of the 20th century and time turning into the new millennium.

Our tip

Check the weather before booking your rotation as the views are much better on a clear day/evening.

www.londoneye.com

St Paul's Cathedral

Sitting at the top of Ludgate Hill, the highest point in the City of London, this much loved cathedral is one of the most famous and recognisable buildings in London. Designed by the world renowned architect Sir Christopher Wren, notable services have included the launch of the Festival of Britain, The Diamond Jubilee for Queen Elizabeth and the wedding of the Prince of Wales and Lady Diana Spencer.

Our tip

Climb up to the famous Whispering Gallery or higher still to the Stone Gallery or Golden Gallery for amazing views across London.

www.stpauls.co.uk

National Gallery

Free admission

First opened in 1838, The National Gallery houses the largest national collection of paintings in Western Europe including works from Monet and Rembrandt. Since 1989, the gallery has run a scheme that gives a studio to contemporary artists to create work based on the permanent collection.

Our tip

Start your visit by using ArtStart. It offers themed tours allowing you to choose ten paintings you would most like to see and then prints a map of where they are in the Gallery!

www.nationalgallery.org.uk

Natural History Museum

Home to more than 80 million specimens, spanning thousands of years, including the skeleton of a blue whale, this world-famous museum is based in South Kensington. As well as the exhibits, most notable being the Dinosaur collection, the museum is also a leading science research centre with over 350 scientists based there.

Our tip

Take a look at the Victorian mosaic floor when you enter the Museum. It was all built by hand and is repaired by two staff at 5am almost every day.

www.nhm.ac.uk

Free admission

Science Museum

The Science Museum was founded in 1857 as part of the South Kensington Museum. Today the Museum is world renowned for its historic collections, awe-inspiring galleries and inspirational exhibitions.

Our tip

Pick up a map at the entrance as it is a large museum to navigate without one.

www.sciencemuseum.org.uk

Free admission

Tate Modern

Created in 2000 and based in a disused power station, the museum has become world renowned for its modern and contemporary art with collections from all movements including Pop art and Conceptual art. With a surprise around every corner, this gallery never fails to impress.

Our tip

The galleries are quietest at opening times (shhhh).

Tower of London

Steeped in history dating back to its founder, William the Conqueror (1066-87), Her Majesty's Royal Palace and Fortress is renowned for not only its bloody tales, but also for being a trusted home to the priceless Crown Jewels, extensive armoury, historic prison and the true custodians of the Tower — “The Beefeaters”.

Our tip

Booking online gives you a ticket that is valid for 7 days from the date you selected, so if your plans change, you don't lose out.

TowerOfLondon](http://www.hrp.org.uk/TowerOfLondon)

Victoria & Albert Museum

Free admission

Affectionately known as The V&A, this beautiful museum holds the proud status of being the world's largest museum of decorative arts and design, housing a permanent collection of over 4.5 million objects. A true benchmark for the design, fashion and creative industry, exhibitions have included showcases from McQueen, Valentino and the museum is host to the London Design Festival.

Our tip

Explore the museum with glass in hand on a Friday night when you can enjoy late night opening times.

www.vam.ac.uk

Westminster Abbey

A must see pageant of British History, the Abbey, which is over 1,000 years old, is the official coronation Church of England where every monarch since William Conqueror has been crowned. Renowned for it's architectural splendour, the Abbey is a treasure house of paintings, stained glass, pavements and textiles and is also a place of daily worship.

Our tip

On Sundays the Abbey is not open to visitors but you can join a service instead.
